"IL Y A DANS LES DÉCISIONS DE LA MODE ET DES FEMMES UNE SORTE DE PROVOCATION AU BON SENS, QUI EST CHARMANTE ET QUI NE PEUT FÂCHER QUE LES ESPRITS CHAGRINS." (PAUL POIRET)

Today I attended Listenup's biannual pre-season press day, which meant that bloggers, stylists, journalists and other amazing fashion-minded people got the opportunity to take a look at the new collections of A/W 2011.

The PR agency has one of the most beautiful showrooms I have ever seen! Me and Catherine were warmly welcomed by Carolen and Barbara, the founders of the company, with a bottle of water containing magical powers: "Drinking this water will make you smarter and prettier too," as I read on the label of my H2O. Well, I can say that those two Listenup-fairies succeeded in achieving their goal:

Walking through the fashion woods I stopped by Malice in Wonderland, the fresh and beautiful jewellery line by Evy Gruyaert.

What's this?

How rings give a elegant touch to your fingers.

Jewellery: check. Continuing my walk through the showroom-forest I found a lovely pair of high heel (three-inch) leopard skin shoes with a tiny bow. Like Dorothy's ruby slippers the SuperTrash-stilettoes protected me against all evil.

Beat that Dorothy!

Jewellery: check. Shoes check. Amazed by the rings and the heels I had to find a warm sweater, scarf and coat because it was getting so cold in the woods. Luckily, I found some interesting items from the Wildfox-, Ted Baker- and Ambre Babzoe-tree:
